

TriValley Technology Enterprise Center

A Bridge Between the National Labs & Technology Companies

The mission of the TriValley Technology Enterprise Center (TTEC) is to partner with the City of Livermore, the Tri-Valley Business Council, companies in the Tri-Valley area, and the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL) and Sandia National Laboratories to promote economic development in the Tri-Valley area.

TTEC has a facility located on the LLNL site that is an incubator for technology start-ups as well as home for companies that have license agreements and/or research agreements with the national laboratories.

TTEC offers an extensive network of support services and advisors for emerging companies as well as ties with established technology companies in the Tri-Valley.

There are offices available on a month-to-month basis at TTEC. There are also shared facilities and office equipment such as a conference room, kitchenette, fax and copy machines available for use with office space. For questions about the facilities contact TTEC at 925.371.8651.

For more information visit TTEC's website at www.trivalley.org or email TTEC Executive Director, Michael LaLumiere at mlalum@comcast.net.
